Agam. Princes:

What greefe hath fet the laundies on your checkes ? The ample proposition that hope makes In all defignes, begun on earth below Fayles in the promit largeneffe : checkes and difafters Grow in the veines of actidus higheft rear'd. As knots by the conflux of meeting fap, Infect the found Pine, and diverts his Graine Tortiue and erant from his course of growth. Nor Princes, is it matter new to vs. That we come fhort of our suppose so farre, That after feuen yeares fiege, yet Tiny walles fland, Sith every action that hath gone before, Whereof we have Record, Triall did draw Bias and thwart, not answering the ayme : And that vnbodied figure of the thought That gaue't furinifed firape. Why then you Princes) Do you with cheekes abaih'd, behold our workes, And thinke them fhame, which are (indeed) nought else But the protractive trials of great love, To finde perfiftive conftancie in men? The finenelle of which Mettall is not found In Fortunes love a for then, the Bol land Coward, The Wife and Foole, the Artift and vn-read, The hard and foft, feeme all affin d ano Lin. Nestor. With due Observance of thy godly seat, Great Agamemnon, Neftor Inall apply" Thy lateft words. In the reproofe of Chance,

Lies the true proofe of men : The Sea being fmooth, How many shallow bauble Boates dare faile pon her patient breft, making their way With those of Nobler bulke? But let the Ruffian Boreas once enrage The gentle Theres and anon behold The Brong ribb'd Barke through liquid Mountsines cut, Bounding bets, eene the two moyft Elements Like Perfeus Hotfe. Where's then the faivey Boate, Whofe weake vntimber'd fides but euen now Co-riual'd Greatneffe ? Either to harbour fled, Ormade a Toffe for Neptune. Euen fo. Doth valours frew, and valours worth diuide In flormes of Fortune.

For, in her ray and brightneffe,

The Heard hach more annoyance by the Brieze Then by the Tyger : Bur, when the fplitting winde Makes flexible the knees of knotted Oakes, And Flies fled under fhade, why then The thing of Courage,

Asrowz'd with rage, with rage doth fympathize, And with an accent tun'd in felfe-fame key, Retyres to chiding Fortune.

:: Vlyf. Agamemnon.

Thou great Commander, Nerue, and Bone of Greece, Heart of our Numbers, foule, and onely spirit, In whom the tempers, and the mindes of all Should be fliur vp : Heare what Vly fes speakes, Belides the applause and approbation The which most mighty for thy place and fway,

And

And thou most reverend for thy stretcht-out life, I give to both your speeches : which were such, As Agamemnon and the hand of Greece Should hold vp high in Brasse: and such againe As venerable Neftor (hatch'd in Silver) Should with a bond of ayre, strong as the Axletree In which the Heavens ride, knit all Greekes eares To his experienc'd tongue : yet let it please both (Thou Great, and Wise) to heare Vinses speeke.

Aga. Speak P.ince of Ithaca, and be't of leffe expect : That matter needleffe of import leffe burthen Divide thy lips; then we are confident When ranke Therfiles opes his Mafficke jawes, We fhall heare Muficke, Wit, and Oracle.

Ulyf. Troy yet vpon his bafis had bene downe, And the great Hettors Iword had lack'd a Mafter But for these instances. The fpecialty of Rule hath beene neglected ; And looke how many Grecian Tents do stand Hollow vpon this Plaine, fo many hollow Factions. When that the Generall is not like the Hiue, To whom the Forragers shall all repaire, What Hony is expected? Degree being vizarded, Th'ynworthieft thewes as fairely in the Maske. The Heavens themselves, the Planets, and this Center, Observe degree, priority, and place, Infisture, course, proportion, season, forme, Office, and cuftome, in all line of Order And therefore is the glorious Planet Sol In noble eminence, enthron'd and fpliear'd Amid'ft the other, whole med'cinable eye Corrects the ill Aspects of Planets cuill, And postes like the Command'ment of a King, Sans checke, to good and bad. But when the Planets In cuill mixture to diforder wander, What Plagues, and what porcents, what mutiny? Whar raging of the Sea? fhaking of Earth? Commotion in the Windes? Frights, changes, horiors, Dincir, and cracke, rend and deracinate The vnity, and married calme of States Quite from their fixure? O, when Degree is shak'd, Which is the Ladder to all high defigires) The enterprize is ficke. How could Communities, Degrees in Schooles and Brother-hoods in Cities, Peacefull Commerce from diuidable fhores, The primogenitiue, and due of Byrth, Prerogatiue of Age, Crownes, Scepters, Lawrels, (But by Degree) fland in Authentique place? Take but Degree away, voltune that firmg, And hearke what Difcord followes : each thing meetes In meere oppugnancie. The bounded Waters, Should lift their bosomes higher then the Shores, And m-ke a foppe of all this folid Globe : Strength fhould be Lord of imbecility, And the rude Soune flould ftrike his Father dead : Force frould be agat, or eather, right and wrong, (Betweene whofe endleffe iarie, Juffice recides) Should loose her names, and to should fuffice too. Then every thing orclades at felte in Power, Power into Will, Will into Appente, And Apperite (as visuer'n!! Wolfe, So doubly feconded with Will, and Power) Muft make perforce an visuorial! prey, And laft, cate vp humfelic. Givat Agamemnon : This Chaos, when Degree is inflocate, Followes the chosking : And this neglection of Degree, is it That by a pace goes backward in a purpole It hath to climbe. The Generall's difdain'd By him one ftep below ; he, by the next, That next, by him beneath : fo every ftep Exampled by the first pace that is ficke Of his Superiour, growes to an enuious Feauer Ofpale, and bloodleffe Emulation. And 'tis this Feauer that keepes Troy on foote, Not her owne finewes. To end a tale of length, Troy in our weakneffe liues, not in her ftrength. Neft. Most wifely hath VIffes heere discouer'd The Feauer, whereof all our power is ficke. Aga. The Nature of the fickneife found (Ulyffes) What is the remedie? Vlyf. The great Achilles, whom Opinion crownes, The linew, and the fore-hand of our Hofte, Hauing his care full of his ayery Fame, Growes dainty of his worth, and in his Tent Lyes mocking our defignes. With him, Patrocine, Vpon a lazie Bed, the live-long day Breakes scurrill lefts, And with ridiculous and aukward action, (Which Slanderer, he imitation call's) He Pageants vs. Sometime great Agamemnon, Thy topleffe deputation he puts on; And like a frutting Piayer, whofe conceit Lies in his Ham-fring, and doth thinke it rich To heare the woodden Dialogue and found Twixt his firetcht footing, and the Scaffolage, Such to be pittled, and ore-refted feeming He acts thy Greatneffe in : and when he speakes, Tis like a Chime a mending. With tearmes vnlquar'd, Which from the tongue of roaring Tiphon dropt, Would icemes Hyperboles. At this fully fluffe, The large Achilles (on his preft-hed lolling) From his deepe Chefl, laughes out a lowd applaufe, Cries excellent, 'tis Agamemnon iuft. Now play me Neftor ; hum, and stroke thy Beard Ashe, being drett to fome Oration : That's done, as neere as the extreameft ends Ofparalels; as like, as Vulcan and his wife, Yet god Achilles full cries excellent, Tis Neftor tight. Now play him (me) Patroclas, Arming to answer in a night-Alarme, And then (forfooth) the faint defects of Age Muftbe the Scene of myrth, to cough, and spit, And with a palie funibling on his Corget, Shake in and out the River : and at this sport Sir Valour dies ; cries, O enough Patrochu, Or, giue me ribs of Steele, I shall split all In pleasure of my Spleene. And in this fashion, All our abilities, gifts, natures, ihapes, Severals and generals of grace exact, Atchieuments, plots, orders, preuentions, Excitements to the field, or speech for truce, Successe or loffe, what is, or is not, ferues As stuffe for these two, to make paradoxes.

Neft. And in the imitation of these twaine, Who (as Vlysse fayes) Opinion crownes With an Imperiall voyce, many are infect: Anax is growne selfe-will'd, and beares his head In such a reyne, in full as proud a place As broad Achiller, and keepes his Tent like him; Makes factious Feasts, railes on our state of Warre

Aiax. O meaning you, I wil go leattie there of it. Exit. Enter Priam, Heller, I roylus, Paru and Helenus. Pri. Aftet to many houres, lines, fpeeches spent, Thus once againe sizes Neffer from the Greekes, Deliuer Helen, and all damage elfe (As honour, loffe of time, trauaile, expense, Wounds, friends, and v. hat els deere that is confum'd In not digeftion of this comorant Warre) Shall be throke off. Heltor, what fay you too't.

Helt. Though no man reffer feares the Greeks then I, As farre as touches my particular : yet dread Prinne There is no Lady of more fofter boy els, More spungie, to such an the lende of Feare. Morercady to cry out, who knowes what followes Then Heltor is : the wound of peace is lurety, Surery lecure : but modest Doube is cal'd The Beacon of the wife : the tent that fearches To thibottome of the worft. Let Helen go, Since the first fword was drawne about this question, Euery tythe foule 'mongit many theufand difmes, Hath bin as decicas Helm: I meane of ours: If we have loft fo many tenths or ours To guard a thing not ours, nor worth to vs (fiad it our name) the vale wofr ne ten y What merit's in that reason which denies The yeelding of her vp.

Troy. Lie, fic, by Brother; Weigh you the worth and he nour of a King

(So great as our dread Father) in a Scale Of common Ounces? Wil you with Counters fumme The part proportion of his infinite, Andbuckle in a wafte most fathomieffe, With spannes and inches fo dominutive, As scares and reasons? Fie for godly shame?

Hel. No maruel though you bite to tharp at reafons, You are to empty of them, Abould not our Father Beare the great Iway of his affayres with reafons, Becaufe your fpeech hath none that tels him to.

Troy. You are for dreames & flumbers brother Prieft You furre your gloues with reafonihere are your reafons You know, a fword imploy'd is perillous, And reafon flyes the object of all harme. Who maruels then when Helense beholds A Grecian and his fword, if he do fet The very wings of reafon to his heeles: Or like a Starre diforb'd. Nay, if we talke of Reafon, And flye like chidden Mercurie from Ioue, Let's thut our gates and fleepe : Manhood and Honor Should have hard hearts, wold they but fat their thoghts With this cramm'd reafon : reafon and refpect, Makes Livers pale and lutlyhood deject. Heit. Brother, the is not worth

What flie doth coft the holding. Troy. What's aught, but as 'tis valew'd?

Helt. But value dwels not in particular will, It holds his effumate and dignitie As well, wherein 'tis precious of it felfe, ' As in the prizer : 'Tis made Idolatrie, To make the feruice greater then the God, And the will dotes that is inclineable To what infectioufly it felfe affects, Without fome unage of th'affected merit.

Troy. I take to day a Wife, and my election Is led on in the conduct of my Will ;

J 3

My

My Will enkindled by mine eyes and cares; Fwo traded Pylots 'twixt the dangerous fhores' Of Will, and Judgement. How may's andyde . (Although my will diftafte what it elected) The Wife I chofe, there can be no Eulafion To blench from this, and to fland firme by honour. We turne not backe the Silkes vpon the Merchant When we have spoyl'd them; nor the remainder Viands We do not throw in vnrespective same, Because we now are full. It was thought meete Prei fhould do some vengeance on the Greekes ; Your, breath of full confent bellied his Sailes, The Seas and Windes (old Wranglers) tooke a Truce, And did him feruice ; he touch'd the Ports defir'd, And for an old Aunt whom the Greekes held Captine He brought a Grecian Queen, whole youth & freihnelle Wrinkles Apollees, and makes stale the morning. Why keepe we her? the Grecians keepe our Aunt : Is the worth keeping? Why the is a Pearle, Whole price hath launch'd aboue a thoutand Ships, And tura'd Grown'd Kings to Merchants, If you'l auouch, 'twas wiledome Paris went, (As you must needs, for you all cride, Go, go:) If you'l confeste, he brought home Noble prize, (As you mult needs) for you all clapt your hands, And cride ineftimable; why do you now The iffue of your proper Wifedomes rate, And do a deed that Fortune neuer did? Begger the effimation which you priz'd, Richer then Sea and Land? O Their most base ! That we have ftolne what we do feare to keepe. But Theeues vnworthy of a thing fo ftolne, That in their Country did them that difgrace, We feare to warrant in our Natiue place.

Euter Caffandrawith her haire about

ber eares. Caf. Cry Troyans, cry. Priam What noyfe? what threeke is this? Troy. Tis our mad lifter, I do know her voyce. Caf. Cry Troyans. Helt. It is Caffandra. Caf. Cry Troyans cry; lend me ten thousand eyes, And I will fill them with Propheticke teares. Helt. Peace fifter, peace. Caf. Vitgins, and Boyes; mid-age & wrinkled old, Soft infancie, that nothing can but cry, Adderomy clamour : let vs pay betimes A moity of that maffe of moane to come. Cry. Troyans cry, practife your eyes with teares, Troy mult not be, ner goodly Illion fland, Our fire-brand Brother Paris burnes vs all. Cry Troyans cry, a Helen and a woe; Cry, cry, Troy burnes, or elfe let Helen goe. Exit. Hest. Now youthfull Traylus, do not these hie strains Of dimination in our Sifter, worke Some touches of remoife? Or is your bloud So madly hot, that no defcourse of reason, Nor feare of bart fucceffern a bad caufe, Can qualifie the fame? Troy. Why Brother Hellor, We may not thinke the self-of each afte Such, and no other then event doth forme it, Nor once detect the courage "four mindes; Becaule Caffandra's mad, ber brauficker sprures Cannot diffaste the goodnesse of a quartell,

Which hath our feuerall Honours all engag'd To make it gracious. For my private part, I am no more touch'd, then all Priams fonnes, And Ioue forbid there fhould be done among'ft vs Such things as might offend the weakeft spleene, To fight for, and maintaine.

Par. Elfe might the world conuince of leuitie, As well my vnder-takings as your counfels : But I atteft the gods, your full confent Gaue wings to my propension, and cut off All feares attending on so dire a project. For what (alas) can these my single armes? What propugnation is in one mans valour To ftand the push and enmity of those This quarrell would excite? Yet I protest, Were I alone to passe the difficulties, And had as ample power, as I haue will, Paris should ne're retract what he hath done, Nor faint in the pursuite.

Pri. Paris, you ipeake Like one be-fotted on your fweet delights; You haue the Hony still, but these the Gall, So to be valiant, is no praise at all. Par. Sir, 1 propose not meerely to my selfe, The pleasures such a beauty brings with it : But I would haue the soyle of her faire Rape Wip'd off in honourable keeping her.

What Treafon were it to the raniack'd Queene, Difgiace to your great worths, and fhame to me, Now to deliver her poffeision vp On termes of bate compulfion? Can it be, That to degenerate a firaine as this, Should once fet footing in your generous bofomes? There's not the meaneft fpirit on our partie, Without a heart to date, or tword to draw, When Helen is defended : nor none fo Noble, Whofe life were ill beftow'd, or death vnfam'd, Where Helen is the fubiect. Then (I fay) Well may we fight for her, whom we know well, The worlds large fpaces cannot paralell.

Helt Paris and Troylus, you have both faid well : And on the cause and question now in hand, Haue gloz'd, but superficielly ; not much Vnlike young men, whom Aristotle thought Vnfit to heare Morall Philosophie. The Reafons you alledge do more conduce To the hot paffion of diffemp'rea blood, Then to make vp a free determination Twixt right and wrong : For pleafure, and reuenge, Haue eares more deafe then Adders, to the voyce Of any true decifion. Nature craues All dues be rendred to their Owners : now What neerer debt in all humanity Then Wife is to the Husband? If this law Of Nature be corrupted through affection, And that great mindes of partiall indulgence, To their benummed wills refift the fame, There is a Law in each well-ordred Nation, To curbe those raging apperites that are Most disobedient and refracturie. If Helen then be wife to Sparta's King (As it is knowne the is) thefe Morall Lawes Of Nature, and of Nation, speake alowd I o haue her backe return'd. Thus to perfift In doing wrong, externates not wrong, Burmakes it much more heaving. Heltors opinion

1 e

Is this in way of truth : yet nere the leffe, My spritely brethren, I propend to you In resolution to keepe Helen fill;

For 'tis a caufe that hath no meane dependance, Vpon our loynt and feuerall dignities.

Tro. Why? there you toucht the life of our defigne : Were it not glory that we more affected, Then the performance of our heating fpleenes, I would not with a drop of Troian blood, Spent more in her defence. But worthy Hector, She is a theame of honour and renowne, A spurre to valiant and magnanimous deeds, Whole pielent courage may beate downe our foes, And fame in time to come canonize vs. For I presume braue Heiter would not loole So rich aduantage of a promif d glory, As fmiles vpon the fore-head of this action, For the wide worlds revenew.

Helt. Iamyours,

You valiant off-spring of great Priamu, I have a roifting challenge leut among'it The dull and factious nobles of the Greekes, Will Arike amazement to their drowfie spirits, 🔅 I was aduertiz'd, their Great generall flep:, Whil's emulation in the armie crept : This I prefume will wakehim.

Enter Theisites folms.

How now Therfites ? what loft in the Labyrinth of thy furie? shall the Elephant Anax carry it thus? he beates me, and Iraile at him : O worthy fatisfaction, would it were otherwife : that I could beate him, whil'ft he rail'd at me : Sfoote, He learne to coniure and raife Diuels, but Ile see some issue of my spitefull exectations. Then ther's Achilles, atale Enginer. If 7 roy be not taken till thefe two vndermineit, the wals will ftand till they fall of themfelues. O thou great thunder-datter of Olympus, forget that thou art love the King of gods : and Mercury, loose all the Scipentine craft of thy Caduceus, if thou take not that little little leffe then little wit from them that they have, which fhort-arm'd ignoratice it felfe knowes, is fo abundant scarse, it will not in circumuention deliver a Flye from a Spider, without drawing the maffie Irons and cutting the web : after this, the vengeance on the whole Camp, or rather the bone-ach, for that me thinkes is the curfe dependant on those that warre for a placker. I have faid my prayers and diuell, enuie, fay Amen : What ho? my Lord Achilles ?

Troy. Amen.

Cref. Amen.

Par. Amen.

Whereupon I will fhew you a Chamber, which bed, becaule it shall not speake of your prettie encounters, presse it to death : away. And Copid grant all; tong-tide Maidens heere, Bed, Chamber, and Pander, to prouide this geere. Exempt.

Enter Viyffes, Diomedes, Neftor, Agamemnon, Menelans and Chalcas. Florifb.

Cal. Now Princes for the feruice I have done you, Th'aduantage of the time promps me aloud, To call for recompence : appeare it to your minde, That through the fight 1 bears in things to love, I have abandon'd Troy, left my possellion, Incur'd a Traitors manie, expol'diny felfe, From certaine and poffeft conveniences, To doubtfull fortunes, fequestring from me all That time, acquaintance, cuftome and condition, Made tame, and most familiar to my nature : And here to doe you feruice am become, As new into the world, ftiange, vnacquainted. I doe beseech you, as in way of raste, To giue me now a little benefit : Out of those many registred in promise, Which you fay, live to come in my behalfe. Agam. What would'th thou of vs Troisn? make demand?

Cal. You haue a Troian prifoner, cal'd Anthenor, Yefterday tooke : Troy holds him very deere. Oft haue you (often haue you, thankes therefore) Defir'd my Creffia in right great exchange. Whom Troy hath full deni'd : but this Anthenor, I know is fuch a wreft in their affaires; That their negotiations all must flacke, Wanting his mannage: and they will almoft, Giue vsa Prince of blood, a Sonne of Priam, In change of him. Let him be fent great Princes, And he fhall buy my Daughter : and her prefence, Shall quite ftrike off all feruice I have done, In molt accepted paine.

Aga. Let Diomedes beare him, And bring vs Creffid hither : Calcas fhall have What he requeits of vs : good Diomed Furnish you fairely for this enterchange; Withell bring word, if Hetter will to morrow Be answer'd in his challenge. Aux is ready.

Dre. This fha'l I vndertake, and 'tis a burthen Which I am proud to beare. Exit. Enter A chilles and Patroclus in their Tent.

Wif. Achilles fands i'll entrance of his Tent; Please it our Generall to passe itsangely by him, As if he were forgot: and Princes all, Lay negligent and loofe regard vpon him; I will come laft, 'tis like heele queflion me,

Why fuch vnplaufiue eyes are bent ? why turn'd on him? If so, I have derision medicinable, To vie betweene your finngeneffe and his pride, Which his owne will fhall have defire to drinke ; It may doe good, pride hath no other glaffe To fhow it lelfe, but pride: for supple knees, Feede arrogance, and are the proud mans fees. Agam. Weele execute your purpose, and put on A forma of ftrangenesse as we passe along, So doe each Lord, and either greete him not, Or elfe difdainfully, which fhall fhake him more, Then if not lookt on. I will lead the way. Achil. What comes the Generall to fpeake with me? You know my minde, Ile fight no more 'gainft Troy. Aga. What fairs Achilles, would he ought with vs? Nef. Would you my Lord ought with the Generall? Achil. No. Nef. Nothing my Lord. Aga. The better. Achil. Good day, good day. Men. How doe you? how doe you? Acht. What, do's the Cuckold fcome me? Aiax. How now Pareclast. Achil. Good morrow Ainr? Asax. Ha. Achil. Good morrow. Aiax. 1, and good next day too. Exennt. Achil. What means these fellowes? know they not Achilles ? Patr. They passe by strangely: they were vid to bend To lend their imiles before them to Achilles : To come as humbly as they vs'd to creepe to holy Altars. Achil. What am I poore of late? ' Fis certaine, greatneffe once falne out with fortune, Must fall our with mentoo : what the declin'd is, He fhall as soone reade in the eyes of others, As feele in his owne fall : for men like butter-flies, Shew not their mealie wings, but to the Summers And not a man for being fimply man, Hath any honour; but honour'd for those honours That are without him; as place, riches, and fauour, Prizes of accident, as oft as merit : Which when they fall, as being flippery ftanders ; The loue that leand on them as flippery too, Doth one plucke downe another, and together Dye in the fall. But 'tis not for with me ; Fortune and I are friends, I doe enio At ample point, all that I did posselle, Saue these mens lookes: who do me thinkes finde out Something not worth in me fuch rich beholding, As they have often given. Here is Uliffes, Ile interrupt his reading : how now Vliffes? Vl.f. Now great Theris Sonne. Achil. What are you reading ? Flif. A ftrange fellow here Writes me, that man, how dearely ever parted, How much in hauing, or without, or in, Cannot make boaft to haue that which he hath ; Nor feeles nor what he owes, but by reflection : As when his vertues fhining vpon others, Heate them, and they retort that heate againe

Achil. I doe beleeue it : For they paft by me, as mylers doe by beggars, Neither gaue to me good word, nor looke: What are my deedes forgot?

Ulif. Time hach (my Lord) a wallet at his backe, Wherein he purs almes for obligion : A great fiz d monfler of ingratitudes : Those feraps are good deedes past, Which are deuour dos fast as they are made, Forgot as foone as done : perfeuerance, deere my Lord, Keepes honor bright, to have done, is to hang Quite out of fashion, like a ruftie male, In monumentall mockrie : take the inftant way, For honour trauels in a ftraight fo narrow, Where one but goes a breaft, keepe then the paths For emulation hath a thoufand Sonnes, That one by one pursue ; if you giue way, Or hedge alide from the direct forth right ; Like to an entred Tyde, they all rush by, And leave you hindmoft: Or like a gallant Horfe falne in first sanke, Lye there for pauement to the abiea, neere Ore-run and trampled on: then what they doe in present, Though leffe then yours in paft, muft ore-top yours : For time is like a fathionable Hofte, That flightly shakes his parting Gueft by th hands And with his armes out-firetcht, as he would flys, Graspes in the commer e the welcome euer finiles,

And farewels goes out fighing : O let not vertue feiks, Remuneration for the thing is was : for beautie, whis High birth, vigor of bone, defert in fernice, Love, friendism, charity, are subjects all One touch of nature makes the whole world kin : That all with one confent praife new borne gaudes, Though they are made and moulded of things paff, And goe to duft, that is a little guilt, More laud then guilt oreduffed. The present eye praises the pres neobie & : Then maruell not thou great and compleat man, That all the Greekes begin to worthip Aiax; Since things in motion begin to catch the eye, Then what not flirs : the crywent out on thee, And full it might, and yet it may a gaine, If thou would ft not entombe thy telfe alue, And cafe thy regulation in thy Tent ; Whole glorious decides, but in thefe helds of late, Made emulous miffions 'mongft the gods themfeluer, And draue great Mars to faction, Achil. Of this my privacio, I have ftrong realions. Plif. But gainfl your privacie The reasons are more potent and heroycall a Tis knowne Acl .ller, hat you are in love With one of Prisme daughterts. Acbil, Ha?knowne? Uhf. Is that a wooder ? The providence that s in a watchfull State. Knowes almost every graine of Plutees gold3 Findes bottome in the vacomprehensive deepes : Keepes place with thought; and almoft like the gods, Doe thoughts vnuaile so their dumbe cradles : There is a mysterie (with whom relation Durft neuer meddle) in the foule of State; Which hath an operation more diume, Then breach or pen can give expressions to : All the commerte that you have had with Troy, As perfectly is ours, as yours, my Lord. And better would it ht Achilles much, To throw downe Hector then Tolixena. But it must grieue yong Parhas now at home, When fame fhalt in her Hand found her trumpes And all the Greek sh Girles shall tripping sing, Great Hellors fifter did Achilles winne ; But our great Alax biauely beate downe him. Farewell my Lord : I as your louer speake ; The foole flides ore the Ice that you fhould breake. Patr. To this effect Achilles haue I mou'd you;

A woman impudent and mannifs growne, Is not more loth'd, thea an effeminate man, In time of action : I ftand condemn'd for this ; They thinke my little flomacke to the warre, And your great loue to me, reftraines you thus : Sweete, roufe your felfe; and the weake wanton Capid Shall from your necke voloofe his amorous fould, And like a dew drop from the Lyons mane, Be fhook to ayrie ayre.

Achd. Shall Atax fight with Hellor ? Patr. I, and perhaps receiue much honor by him. Achd. I fee my reputation is at ftake. My fame is fhrowdly gored. Patr. O then beware : Thofe wounds heale ill, that men doe give themfelves t Omiffion to doe what is neceffary.

Tinuite the Troian Lords after the Combat To fee vs here vnarm'd : I haue a womans longing,

An appetite that I am ficke withall,

To fee great Heltor in his weedes of peace; Enter Therfi.

To talke with him, and to behold his vilage,

Euen to my full of view. A labour fau'd.

.Ther. A wonder.

Achil. What?

Ther. Aiax goes vp and downe the field, asking for himselfe.

Acbil. How so ?

Ther. Hee must fight fingly to morrow with Heiter, and is fo prophetically proud of an heroicall cudgelling, that he raues in faying nothing.

Actel. How can that be ?

Ther. Why he ftalkes vp and downe like a Peacock, a ftride and a ftand: ruminates like an hoffeffe, that hath no Arithmatique but her braine to fet downe her reckoning: bites his lip with a politique regard, as who fhould fay, there were witin his head and twoo'd out; and fo there is: but it lyes as coldly in him, as fire in a flint, which will not fhew without knocking. The mans vndone for euer; for if Hector breake not his necke ith combat, heele break't himfelfe in vaine-glory. He knowes not mee : I faid, good morrow Aiax; And he replyes, thankes Agâmemnon. What thinke you of this man, that takes me for the Generall? Hee's growne a very land-fifth, languageleffe, a monfter : a plague of opinion, a man may weare it on both fides like a leather Ierkin.

Achil. Thou must be my Ambassador to him Thersites.

Ther. Who, I: why, heele answer no body: he professes noranswering; speaking is for beggers: he weares his tongue in's armes: I will put on his pies ence; let Patreelm make his demands to me, you shall see the Pageant of Aiax.

Achil. To him Patroclus; tell him, I humbly defire the valiant Aiax, to inuite the most valorous Heltor, to come vnarm'd to my Tent, and to procure fafe conduct for his perfon, of the magnanimious and most illustrious, fixe or feauen times honour'd Captaine, Generall of the Grecian

Ther. Fare you well withall my heart.

Achil. Why, but he is not in this tune, is he?

Ther. No, but he's out a tune thus: what muficke will be in hun when Hector has knockt out his braines, I know not: but I am fure none, vnleffe the Fidles Apollo get his finewes to make carlings on.

Acbil. Come, thou shalt beare a Letter to him straight.

Thr. Let me carry another to his Horie; for that's the more capable creature.

Achil. My minde is troubled like a Fountaine stir'd, And I my felfe see not the bottome of it.

Ther. Would the Fountaine of your minde were cleere againe, that I might water an Affe at it 1 had rathet be a Ticke in a Sheepe, then luch a valiant ignorance.

Enter at one doore Ænear with a Torch, at another Paris, Diepherbas, Anthenor, Diomed the Grecian, with Torches.

Par. See hoa, who is that there? Duph. It is the Lord Aneas. Ane. Is the Prince there in perfort? Had I fo good occafion to lye long As you Prince Paris, nothing but heavenly bufineffe, Should rob my bed-mate of my company. Drem. That's my minde too: good morrow Lord Aneas.

Par. A valiant Greeke Aneas, take his hand, Witneffe the proceffe of your speech within; You told how Diomed in a whole weeke by dayes Did haunt you in the Field.

Æne. Health to you valiant fir, During all question of the gentle truce : But when I meete you arm'd, as blacke defiance, Asheait can thinke, or courage execute.

Diom. The one and other Diomed embraces, Our blouds are new in calme; and to long health: But when contention, and occasion meetes, By Ioue, Ile play the hunter for thy life, With all my force, pursuite and pollicy.

And thou fhalt hunt a Lyon that will flye With his face backward, in humaine gentlenefle: Welcome to Troy; now by Anchifes life, Welcome indeede: by Venus hand I fweare, No man alue can loue in fuch a fort, The thing he meaner to kill, more an exclusion

The thing he meanes to kill, more excellently. Diom. We fimpathize. Ione let Aneas live (If to my fword his fate be not the glory) A thousand complease courses of the Sunne, But in mine emulous honor let him dye: With every ioynt a wound, and that to morrow.

Ane. We know each other well.

Dio. We doe, and long to know each other worfe.

Par. This is the most, despishtful's gentle greeting; The noblest hatefull love, that ere 1 heard of. What businesse Lord so early?

Ane. I was fent for to the Kingsbut why, I know not. Par. His purpofe meets you; it was to bring this Greek To Calcha's houle; and there to render him, For the enfreed Anthener, the faire Creffid: Lers have your company; or if you pleafe, Hafte there before vs. I conftantly doe thinke (Or rather call my thought a certaine knowledge) My brother Troylus lodges there to night. Roufe him, and give him note of our approach, With the whole quality whereof, I feare We fhall be much vnwelcome.

Ane. That I affure you :

Trojinshad rather Troy were borne to Greece, Then Creffid borne from Troy.

Par. There

Par. There is no helpe: The bitter disposition of the time will haue it fo. On Lord, weele follow you.

Ane. Good morrow all. Exit Aneas Par. And tell me noble Diomed ; faith tell me true, Euen in the foule of found good fellow thip, Who in your thoughts merits faire Helen moft? My telfe, or Menelans!

Diom. Bothalike.

He merits well to have her, that doth feeke her, Not inaking any foruple of her foylure, With such a hell of pame, and world of charge. And you as well to keep e her, that defend her, Not pallating the tafte of her difhonour, With juch a coffly loffe of wealth and itiends: He like a puling Cuckold, would drinke vp The lees and dregs of a flat tamed peece : You like a letcher, out of whor in loynes, Are pleaf'd to breede out your mheritors: Both merits poyz'd, each weighs no leffe nor more, But heas he, which heavier for a whore.

P.r. You are too bilter to your country-woman. Dio. Shee's bitter to her countrey : heare me Paris, For every falle drop in her baudy veines, A Grecians life hath funke : for every fcruple Ofher contaminated carrion weight, A Troian hath beene flame. Since the could fpeake, She hath not given to many good words breath, As for her, Greekes and Troians suffred death.

Par. Faire Diomed, you'doe as chapmen doe, Dif praife the thing that you defire to buy: But we in filence hold this vertue well; Weele not commend, what we intend to fell. Exennt. Here lyes our way.

Enter Troylm: and Creffidx.

Aia 1 annot warme yet, let vs fight againe.
Diom. As Hector pleases. Hect. Why then will I no more:
Thou art great Lord, my Fathers fifters Sonne ;
A coulen german to great Priams feede :
The obligation of our bloud foi bids
A gerie cinulation 'twixt vs twaine :
Were thy commission, Greeke and Troian fo,
That thou could'it fay, this hand is Grecian all, — And this is Trojan: the fine wes of this Legge,
All Greeke, and this all I roy - m; M sthers bloud
Runs on the dexter checke, and this I after Bounds in my fathers : by Jone multipotent,
I hou hould'ft not beare from me a Greek. 'b member
Whereaniny fword had not impreflure made
Ot our ranke feud : but the just gods gainley,
That may drop thou borrwd A from thy mother, My-lacred Aunt, fhould by my mortall Sword
Be drained. Let me embrace thee Anax:
By him that thunders, thou hait luftie Armes;
licitor would have them fall ypon him thus.
Cozen, all honor to thee.
Ana. I thanke thee Hellor :
Thomart too gentle, and too free a man : I came to kill thee Cozen, and beare hence
A great addition, caracd in thy death.
Het. Not Neptal; mus fo muslile,
On whole bright creft, fame with her lowd ft (Oyes)
Cries, I as is he; could'il promite to simfelfe,
A thought of added honor, torne trou Hector.
Ane. There is expectance here from both the fides, What further you will doe?
Helt. Weele antwere it.
The illue is enibracemen : Anay, farewell.
Aia. If I might in entreaties hade successe,
As feld I have the chance ; I would ." cfire
My famous Coufin to out Greeian Tests.
Diom. 'Tis Agamentions with and great Achilles
Doth long to fee ynarm'd the valuant Helfor. Hell. Ane,u, call my brother Ir mins to me:
And lignifie this loung enterview
Defire them home. Give me thy hand, my Coufin:
I will goe cate with thee, and fee your Knights.
Enter Agamemon and the reft.
Aia Great Agamemnon comes to meetevs here. Heat. The worthieft of them, tell me name by name
But for Achilles, mine owne ferching eyes
Shall finde him by his large and porrly fize.
Aga. Worthy of Armes: as welcome as to one
That would be rid of such an encime.
But thet's no welcome : vndertiand more cleere
What's paft, and what's to come, is firew'd with huskes
And formeleffe ruine of obliuion : But in this extant moment, faith and troth,
Strain'd purely from all hollow bias drawing:
Bids thee with most divine integritie.
From heart of very heart, great Helter welcome.

Troylus and Cressida. Achil. Behold thy fill. Ara. My well-fam'd Lord of Troy, no leffe to you. Men. Let me confirme my Princely brothers greeting, Helt. Nay, I have done already. Achil. Thou art to breefe, I will the lecond time. You brace of warlike Brothers, welcome hither. Heil. Who must we aufwerd As I would buy thee, view thee, limbe by limbe. Helt. O like a Booke of fport thou'lt reade me ore : Ane. The Noble Ment line, He??. O, you my Lord, by Mars his gauntlet thanks, But there's more in me then thou ynderstand'st. Why doeft thou to oppreffe me with thine eye? Mockenor, that I affect th'vntraded Oath, Achil. Tell me you Hesgen, in which pare of his body Your quendam wife fweares fill by Venus Gloue Shall I deftroy him? Whether there, or there, or there, Shee's well, but bad menot commend her to you. Men. Name her not now fir, fhe's a deadly Theame. That I may give the locall wound a name, Hett. Opardon, I offend. And make diffinct the very breach, where-out Neft, I haue (thou gallant Troyan) seene thee oft Hellors great fpirit fl.w. Aniwer me heauens. Hest. It would diferedit the bleft Gods, proudman, Labouring for delliny, make cruell way Through rankes of Greekish youth : and I have seen thee To anlwer luch a queftion ; Stand againe ; Think'it thou to catch my life fo pleafantly, As hot as Perfene, fpurre thy Phrygian Steed, 1 And teene thee fcorning forfeits and fibduments, As to prenominate in nice coniecture Where thou wilt bit me dead? When thou haft hung thy advanced fword i'th'ayre, Not letting it decline, on the declined : Achil. 1 tell thee yea. Heil. Wert thou the Oracle to tell me fo, Inar I have faid voto my franders by, t oe lupiter is yonder, dealing life. I'ld not beleeue thee : henceforth guard thee well, For Henot kill thee there, nor there, nor there, And Thane feene thee paule, and take thy breath, When that a ring of Greekes have hem'd thee m, But by the forge that flythied Mars his helme, He kill thee eutry where, yea ore and ore. Like an Olympian wroftling. This haue I feene, But this thy countenance (Hill lock: in fleele) You wifelt Grecians, pardon nie this bragge, I neuer faw ull now. I knew thy Grandfile, His infolence drawes folly from my lips, But He endeuour deeds to match il efe words, And once fought with him; he was a Souldier good, But by great Mars, the Captaine of vs all, Or may I neuer-Neuer like thee. Let an oldman embrace thee, Aiex. Do not chafe the= Cofin: And (worthy Warriour) welcome to our Teuts. And you Achilles, let these threats alone Ane. 'Tis the old Neffor. Heet. Let me embrace thee good old Chronicle, Till accident, or purpole bring you too t. You may every day enough of Heitor That half fo long walk'd hand in hand with time: If you haue ftomacke. The generall state I feare, Most reuerend Neflor, I am glad to classe thee. Can scarfe intreas you to be odde with him. Ne.I would my armes could match thee in contention Helt. I pray you let vs fee you in the field, As they contend with thee in courtefie. We have had pelting Warres lince you refus'd Helt I would they could. The Greeians caule. Neft. Ha? by this white beard I'ld fight with thee to Achil. Dost chouintreat me Heller? morrow. Well, welcom, welcome : I haue feen the time. To morrow do I meete thee tell as death, Vly/. I wonder now, how yonder City flands, To night, all Friends. When we have here her Bafe and pillar by vs. Helt. Thy hand vpon that match. Helt. I know your fauour Lord Vlyffes well. Aga. First, all you Pecres of Greece go to my Tent, Ah fir, there's many a Greeke and Troyan dead, There in the full conuiue you : Afterwards, Since first I faw your !elfe, and Dromed As Heffors leyfure, and your bounties shall In Illion, on your Greekish Embassie. Concurre together, feuerally intreat him, Vlyf. Sir, I foretold you then what would enfue, Beate lowd the Taborins, let the Trumpets blow, My prophefie is but halfe his sourney yet; That this great Souldier may his welcome know. Exempt For yonder wals that pertly front your Towne, Trey. My Lord Uly Jes, tell me I befeech you, Yond Towers, whose wanton tops do busie the clouds, In what place of the Field doth Calchas keepe? Fie lausge, fie. Troy. Hector, then 'tis warres. Hect. Troyles, I would not have you fight to day. Troy. Who fhould with-hold me? Not fate, obedience, nor the hand of Mars, Beckning with fierie trunchion my retire; Not Priamm, and Heenba on knees Their eyes ore-galled with recourse of teares; Nor you my brother, with your true fword drawne Oppof'd to hinder me, fhould ftop my way: But by my ruine. Enter Priam and Caffandra. Caff. Lay hold vpon him Priam, hold him faft:

He is thy crutch; now if thou loofe thy flay, Thou on him lesning, and all Troy on thee,

Fall

Fall all together.

Priam. Come Helter, come, goe backe : Thy wife hath dreampt : thy mother hath had visions ; Callandra doth forelee; and I my lelfe, Am like a Prophet fuddenly eniapt, to tell thee that this day is omnous : Therefore come backe.

Hett Aneas 15 2 field, And I do thand engag'd to many Greekes, Each in the faith of valour, to appeare This morning to them.

Priam. I, but thou thalt not goe, Hed. I muft not breake my faich :

You know me dutifull, therefore deste fir, Let me not shame respect ; but give me leave To take that course by your content and voice, Which you doe here forbid me, Royall Priam.

Caff. O Prsam, yeelde not to hun. And. Doe not decie father. Helt. Androm sche 1 am offended with you : Vpon the loue you beare me, get you in.

Exit Andromache. Troy. This foolifh, dreaming, superfluces girle, Makes all thefe bodements.

Caff. Ofarewell, decie Heltor :

Looke how thou dielt; I toke how thy eye turnes pale : Looke how thy wounds doth bleede at many vents : Harke how Troy reares ; how Heenba cries out ; How poore Andromache farils her dolour forth ; Behold diffraction, frenzie, and a nazement, Like witleffe Antickes one another meete, And all cry Heltor, Heltors dead : O Heltor !

Troy. Away, away.

Caf. Farewell : yes, loft : Heltor I take my leave ; Thou do'ft thy selfe, and all our Troy decesse. Exit. Hest. You are amaz'd, my Liege, at her exclaime :

Goe in and cheere the Towne, weels forth and fight :

Doe deedes of praise, and tell you shem at night. Priam. Farewell: the gods with fafetie fand about Alarna. thee.

Troy. They are at it, harke : proud Dromed, beleeue I come to loose my arme, or winne my fleeue.
